GRIEF OVER THEIR EVENING

I got American Values

*language is easy,
words are difficult to understand.*

We get pictures in our heads.

In one of my texts
there is an article.
It is a non-fiction article.
It is decorated with four illustrations.
It's Polly Nelson who wrote it.
(My analysis has eleven parts.)

The story has been told in different times.
There's almost non-description,
loaded words
real happy.
Other jobs with better futures
practise his own Jude Law to the others.
It is not something he meant.
Who do we follow?
Yes.
Who do we follow?
Yes. There is no detective.
You follow one person
but not in the head.

U.S.A. is a dangerous country.
A lot of criminal action
done by white people.
They will kill some people.
It could be black people.
U.S.A. is a dangerous country.

Black people came in and got rights.
It doesn't come by itself. He wants to have a white girl
to the boy. A Italy girl who thinks that all Mexicans are bad.

We have a picture in our head.
I get the feeling of, yeah
black people talking.

You don't hear stuff that is happy. A lot of persons are dead
or did it
in the middle class.

It's not the actual killing.
I just lost it. I got it in my head but can't spit it out. I'm not sure.
He always got the babes?

I got American values.
The black man could go
in school and that kind of stuff.
The author wants us to see
the poor black world.
A ghetto like this would take place in real life.

I got American values.
There is Ethos inside
because it is easily understood.
The structure of text
is short sentence.
So it
is Ethos.

Keep the life going, the melting point.
The black. They can go away. They are not good like us.
You are different
like us.

We are getting more
and more
and more informations
but it's not really information
informations.
I understand it in my head
but to explain it,
it is difficult.

She told me yesterday.
They are easy
to understand him.

He is happy
for his parents' thoughts.
He talks very
in details, I think
or nothing.
He is the one who gets the life
as a reward.
He was a normal guy.

To be proud of everything,
it's a good thing because they came with good things,
I think. Only a lot of facts.

So, I got American Values.
A new black dude
has shot
some white chick
when we had the jews.

I don't see any clear signs. I'm not entirely sure but I guess you can see it.
I'm not sure. It's more like leave us alone
kind of message,
kind of hard
to explain.

I have a quote. Again.
And then I have Marie.
I think he is paranoid.
I don't really see Marie living the American Dream.

She's
nothing.

She was very good
and she was just a child who died.

Then I have some emotions,
emotional feelings. What will you say?
Positive emotions.
There is also the progress
which is in the text
and things like that.

Now,
I missed it
again.
Please,
ask me
some questions.

I don't remember it
so good. How can I say it?
Maybe good, maybe evil.
I don't know the Bible.

I think I forgot a lot of things
but I can't remember right now.

What is the word?

I am missing

one word.

Grief over their evening

*In the Out World
the contract is broken.*

The pigs want socialism.
When the wolf dies
it is the freedom
where you have your own place.

I actually don't have more.

what is purpose?

There is an introduction
in the start of the text
by a psychologist.
There are no feelings
in this text. It makes people
to believe it.

It's about bones.

We see
not the same thing
with our eye.
We are scared of the unknown
because we do not know it.

It is something
he regrets. He is desperate to be the actor. Didn't know how to handle a girl.
His parents
have done so much
to him.
They can't be in his place
to see what his dreams are because when it is not a middleclass family
they help each other.

It means Britain is open for change
when it eats
Indian food.

What do you think?
I do not understand the questions.
Can you ask again?
What do you think?

On the street there is
many killers,
many cases
with killers
in the U.S.

So people will see grief
over their evening.
